UM STUDENT
SPEAKS IN BILLINGS

MISSOULA---

David Gorton, a 20-year-old University of Montana junior from Billings, will address the members of the Billings Exchange Club and the Billings chapter of the American Association of University Women Tuesday (Nov. 25).

The Exchange Club will meet at a noon luncheon at the Northern Hotel. The AAUW will meet at 8 p.m. at the Hospitality room of the Security National Bank.

Gorton, a UM history-political science major who was graduated from Billings Senior High School in 1967, said the purpose of his visit to Billings is to provide an information service to adults in Billings and vicinity about the University and student life on campus.

This is the seventh trip of the year that the UM Student Ambassadors have made from the Missoula campus for the purpose of telling their side of the story about what they feel is happening on the Missoula campus.

Gorton will discuss the problems that students are facing on many college campuses, issues that young people are interested in today and campus facilities from the student viewpoint. A question and answer period following the talks/at both Billings clubs.

Gorton said he hopes "the two programs will lead to a greater understanding and appreciation of both today's college student and the University of Montana."

His Billings visit is cosponsored by the UM Alumni Association and the Associated Students through the UM Student Ambassador program.
